SAYS UNIONS ARE BACK OF EXPLOSION

New York World Blames Feud Between New York House Wreckers For Wall Street Tragedy

A PRIVATE INVESTIGATION

Department of Justice Promises to Make Inquiry Into Story Published by Newspaper

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 11.—The department of justice will at once investigate the story that a feud among the New York house wrecking unions was back of the explosion in Wall Street, killing several persons.
The announcement was made by Robert Scott, secretary to Attorney General Palmer, after he was informed that the New York World had published the result of an independent investigation of the explosion.
Scott declared that the department had no information such as published by the World but declared that they would ask the paper for the information in its possession.
Department operators will then go to work on the basis of this information.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Evening World today under the headlines, "Wall Street Explosion Solved," declared that through an independent investigation it had discovered that the bomb, which killed more than 30 persons in Wall street Sept. 16, was intended to blow up a house-wrecking job near the Morgan offices.
It was the work of independent members or sympathizers with the house wrecking local union No. 95, which had a grievance against the Brindell Builders Trade's council, dock builders and house shorers union No. 1456, members of which were workers in the house wrecking job, the Evening World said.
The bomb wagon was driven by a big stolid Pole, who did not know what was in the wagon, the newspaper asserted.
The bomb was clock-worked and was set at 12:02 p. m. and was consigned to contractors at work on the house wrecking job.
There was some delay in crossing street intersections and when the horse driven wagon reached Wall Street, the hour arrived and the bomb exploded.

It is the very time now for the police and the federal detectives to find out who planned the "ticking clock bomb," which was hauled almost to the entrance of Wall Street, by a broken down horse driven by a man who did not know what was in his load and who went away when

PURDUE STUDENTS PLEDGE $326,000

In Two Mass Meetings Subscriptions Are Received For Memorial Building.

THE GOAL IS ONE MILLION

(By United Press)
Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11.—Purdue students pledged $326,000 toward the $1,000,000 fund being raised for a Memorial building to be erected on the campus next year. The total was raised in two hours, from ten to twelve o'clock, and came in two mass meetings held in Fowler hall and the gymnasium, following Armistice Day exercises.
Two coeds, Miss Geraldine Smith of Franklin and Miss Nina Shera of Richmond, both seniors, headed the subscription list with $510 each.
The amount raised brings the total thus far raised in the campaign to about $550,000.
Three in. artillery guns were placed in the field. Those in charge of the guns were in constant touch with a telephone and communicated with the two meetings. When a report came of a $15,000 pledge, those in charge would fire a salute.

DAY OBSERVED IN HIGH SCHOOL TODAY

Significance of Anniversary of The Ending of War is Impressed With Two Speeches

PATRIOTIC SONGS WERE SUNG

Armistice Day was observed in the high school this afternoon with a short program at the regular assembly hour immediately after the noon intermission.
A. M. Taylor, principal, lead the school in the singing of "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner," and then recited briefly the events which led up to the World War. He also explained in a few words the cause of the war and how America was finally involved.
Ira L. Shultz, high school history instructor, made a short talk regarding the period following the war. He emphasized the need of devotion to the higher ideals of the forefathers of the country as a means of curing the evils of the present day. He impressed on the pupils that the religious side of life was equally as important as the materialistic side.

ASKS DIVORCE AND $2,000 IN ALIMONY

Bessie Combs Files Suit Against Charles Combs, Meat Dealer of Glenwood

RESTRAINING ORDER GRANTED

Bessie Combs today filed suit for divorce, alimony and custody of a child, against Charles Combs, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment during their married life. The complaint states that they were married in 1908, and separated Nov. 9. Mrs. Combs also filed a petition asking for a restraining order against her husband.
Judge Sparks this morning issued an order enjoining Mr. Combs from selling or disposing of his personal property. The complaint stated that he is the owner of real estate and personal property to the extent of $5,000 and that his annual income is $2,400. She also stated that he owns one half interest in a meat shop in Connorsville and Glenwood.
She demands $2,000 alimony, $10 a week support and the custody of their five year old son and $200 attorney fees. The matter for support will be heard in the court Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. She charged him with having a violent temper, and on different occasions striking her. Both parties are residents of Glenwood.

JUDGE SPARKS TO SPEAK

Judge Will M. Sparks of this city will speak at the Connorsville high school tonight as a part of the campaign which is being conducted to center interest in the schools. There will be light in every school house in Fayette county tonight and meetings will be held in most of them.

To the American Legion

New York, Nov. 11.—National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr. of the American Legion today issued the following message on Armistice Day:

"The swift triumph of our arms and those of our gallant allies, which two years ago gave us the victory, the anniversary of which we celebrate today, marks the high-light of the present century in American affairs. Victories such as Armistice Day commemorates are not the issues solely of clashes of flesh and steel. They are finer quality than that. They are the triumphs, as well, of an unconquerable spirit.

"No victory, however complete, long can survive the spirit that conceived it. The annals of mankind are replete with example, splendid triumphs in behalf of splendid causes, that have gone for naught because the spirit that made them ceased to endure.

"This is only the second anniversary of Armistice Day—a day destined, if we will, to keep company with the immortals of the calendar that mark great moments of history that shall never die. Succeeding generations will acclaim Armistice Day. God grant they always shall acclaim it; and that this spirit, like the day, shall be imperishable.

"With this prayer in our hearts let us renew each year our vows of fealty, repledge and keep unshakable our faith in the high ideals, the lofty purposes, the unselfish aspirations and exalted, holy hopes that fired the hearts of Americans in 1918 and made ours a land, from whence crusaders came, with soul afire, worthy of their victory.

"To this end the American Legion, today and forever, solemnly pledges its all."

Posts of the Legion in all parts of the country are planning Armistice Day celebrations at which the government Victory Medals will be distributed to veterans.

ARMISTICE DAY NOT RECOGNIZED

But There Is No One Who Does Not Recall Historical Events Which Transpired 2 Years Ago.

NEWS SPREAD OVER COUNTY

Nov. 11, 1918, Consisted of One Celebration After Another—Big Parade at Night.

Armistice Day passed unrecognized in any organized way today, but there is not a person in Rush county who does not recall the historic events which transpired two years ago this day.

The first news that hostilities would cease at eleven o'clock on that day was received at 2:30 a. m. in the form of a flash from the United Press to the Daily Republican. People were slow to grasp the meaning of the news. Signing of the armistice had been prematurely announced four days before, on seemingly good authority, and was responsible for many hesitating about taking the news as authentic.

However, by eight o'clock in the morning the fact began to dawn on the people that war had in reality ended and that they would again see the boys who had been called from Rush county to fight for their country's honor.

The court house bell began ringing, factory whistles were tied down engine whistles blew and bedlam broke loose. There was one spontaneous demonstration after another. Flags were quickly brought out and unfurled. Motorists paraded singly and in groups. Every noise-making device imaginable was brought into play.

The first blush of joy at the news of the armistice signed ran its course, and cooler heads arranged a meeting of business men at the court house at ten or eleven o'clock. There a sum of money was quickly raised and plans were made for a well ordered celebration that night.

Although lacking the spontaneity of the morning demonstrations, the night parade was a very joyous and fitting close for the historic day. An immense crowd, believed to have been the biggest ever assembled in Rushville, surged through the streets. When the parade began to move at seven o'clock, the streets were one solid and compact mass of people with the exception of a small lane through the center.

HUNTERS IN GRAND RUSH AFTER GAME

Season Opens With a Bang and Scores Flock to Fields, Hoping to Be "Early Bird"

MANY LICENSES ARE SOLD

Hunters Advised to Take Them Along to Avoid Trouble—Game Wardens Activity Responsible

The hunting season opened in Rush county yesterday with a bang. More hunting licenses have been issued within the past month than at any previous time in the history of the county clerk's office. Scores of hunters flocked to the fields Wednesday and today hoping to be one of the proverbial "early birds" which always gets the worm.

The season for rabbits, quail and squirrel opened yesterday, and for several days prior to the opening of the season, a rush has been made to secure licenses. Several years ago people neglected to get licenses, but within the past year deputy state game wardens have been active in these parts, and many have paid fines for not having a license.

With each license issued, it is good advice to ask the county clerk for a copy of the state game laws. This little booklet gives all information desired about the open and closed season, the bag limits and information regarding the fish laws.

A hunting license costs $1.00 and includes fishing and hunting privileges for one year, any place within the state. A fishing license is not required for a resident of the county, or for anyone who lives within adjacent counties.

Hunters are also advised to carry their licenses with them while hunting, as a license will not do any good if left at home. It must be presented when demanded by anyone to be seen.

County Clerk Loren Martin expects to be busy for several weeks issuing licenses, as the usual Thanksgiving and Christmas rush will be on within a few days.

While rabbits could be hunted before yesterday, very few go out before, as the warm weather was not favorable to bring out the young rabbits. November 10 is recognized all over the state as the official day for the winter hunting season to open.

It is lawful to hunt quail only from November 10 to December 20, which is the shortest season for

DANIEL CAMERON EXPIRES

Farmer Living East of Rushville Will be Buried Friday

Daniel Cameron, a farmer living one mile east of Rushville, in the vicinity of the old fair grounds, died yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock at his residence, following a long illness of ureamic poisoning. Mr. Cameron was 79 years old and had been in poor health for several months, becoming seriously ill only in the last few weeks. He is survived by a widow and two children, Joseph, who made his home with his parents, and Mrs. Anna Belle Bean of Fayette county.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock at the late residence, and burial will be made in East Hill cemetery.

GIVEN CREDIT FOR REPUBLICAN VICTORY

Mrs. Lillie Armstrong of Jackson, Mo., in a Measure Responsible for Cape County Plurality

CHAIRMAN OF VOTERS LEAGUE

Mrs. Lillie Armstrong, of Jackson, Mo., who is well known in this city, having visited here on a number of occasions, was largely responsible for the republican victory in Cape county, the county in which she lives, according to word received here today by relatives. Mrs. Armstrong is a sister of Mrs. Edwin Lee of this city. Mrs. Armstrong is chairman of the Republican Voters League of Cape County and the following article appeared in the Cape County Post on November 4, regarding her work:

"Mrs. Lillie Armstrong certainly deserves a field marshal's baton and she was surrounded by as an efficient staff of aid-de-camps as any commander could wish. Credit for the large republican vote in Byrd township belongs in a large degree to them."

NO SLACKENING OF DEMAND FOR WORKERS

Survey of Nation Shows With Few Exceptions Industrial Conditions Are Normal.

AFFECTIONS IN SPOTS ONLY

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 11.—Barometers of labor in the northwest show little slackening in the industries for the demand of workers.

While industries in some spots—the automobile industry for example—is laying off men, the majority of the industries are still retaining their men.

The survey of the labor conditions by the United Press shows that with the exception of only one or two places, the situation was normal, compared to the pre-war conditions.

Practically all lines of work which are slowing down production are the ones which developed greatest during the war. At Tulsa, Oklahoma, it was reported that there were more men than jobs, the first time in years.

The survey failed to show any alarming slackening in the demand for men.

OBSERVANCE IN STATE
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Indiana paid tribute to her soldier dead today. Cities and towns throughout the state paused to do honor to the honored dead in commemoration of the second anniversary of the Armistice Day.
A majority of the banks and public buildings closed and in a number of instances factories suspended work.

AMERICA HAS PAID HALF HER WAR DEBT

At 2nd Anniversary of Signing of Armistice Two Foremost Leaders Step Back in Private Life

WILSON AND PERSHING RETIRE

Throughout Country Next Sunday Memorial Services Will be Held For 100,000 Dead Soldiers

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11.—On the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the world war, America's two foremost leaders in that conflict are making ready to step back into private life.

Just two years ago today President Wilson, standing in the House of Representatives, read to an assemblage of congressmen, cabinet officials and diplomats the terms of the document the Germans had been forced to sign. Today, the president—a white haired invalid—a casualty of the great war he helped end, his friends say—is making ready to leave the White House for some quiet home where he probably will write a history of the great events in which he stood as a leading figure.

Gen. John J. Pershing, head of the American Expeditionary force, soon will put aside the khaki. The first full general since Grant, has finished his reports. His work in connection with the army reorganization act is practically over. The general expects soon to take a trip to South America as an official representative of this country. Beyond that his plans are not known.

Along with President Wilson, there will retire several cabinet members who helped carry the burden of America's war effort. Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of Navy Daniels are two of these. Secretary of Labor Wilson, who helped keep the country free from labor troubles during the days of conflict; Postmaster General Burleson, who managed the telegraph and telephone lines, and Secretary Houston, now in the treasury and formerly at the head of the Agriculture Department, will also leave the cabinet.

But if the war leaders are passing, America still has before her sufficient reminder of the days when the German hordes were turned slowly back.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD AT ARLINGTON CEMETERY

Sad Notes of Taps Sounded as The Bodies of Twelve American Soldiers Are Interred

PERSHING AND BAKER SPEAK

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11.—The sad notes of taps broke out over the national cemetery today as the bodies of twelve American soldiers brought home from France, were interred in the Arlington Cemetery, alongside the boys in blue of '61 and '98 and the boys in khaki of '18.

The Virginia hillside was crowded with spectators and their heads were bowed as the solemn scene in commemoration of Armistice Day was enacted.

Throughout the country mass meetings were held in commemoration of the day the Germans surrendered.

In a number of places historic divisions conducted sham battles with trenches and barbed wire entanglements.

"Armistice Day," said General Pershing, "will come to mean to this civilized world, what Independence Day means to the United States.

Vice President Marshall said: "We turn our thoughts from the cries of politics to a cleaner army of the world."

"Our eye should turn toward France," Secretary of War Baker stated, "to the holy ground that covers the bodies of our American dead who gave their lives for our country."

CORN CROP ABOVE 10-YEAR AVERAGE

Quality This Year is Much Above
Normal, According to Indiana
Crop Reporting Service

ALL CROPS SHOW INCREASE

Yield of White Potatoes is 96 Bu.
Per Acre, Almost Double That
Of Last Year

The Indiana corn crop for 1920 goes more than 4 bushels above the 10-year average yield per acre, with the quality considerably above the usual, according to the monthly report of the co-operative crop reported on this month show a substantial increase over last year's production; especially is this true of white potatoes, which are nearly double last year's crop. The report follows:

The corn crop now being harvested is one of the best ever produced in Indiana notwithstanding the heavy frost on October 2d. Weather conditions during October could hardly have been improved upon, but there will be some fields of chaffy corn and in some localities it is down badly. The acreage is hardly up to the average, but the yield per acre—40.5 bushels—is more than 4 bushels above the 10-year average, and the heaviest since county records were established in 1914. On this yield, a total production of 190,431,000 bushels is forecasted, compared with 175,750,000 bushels last year. The quality, compared with a high, medium grade, is 92 percent, and there is 9,842,000 bushels of last year's crop still on farm. To offset this however, 8.7 percent of the crop was cut for silage and the yield averaged 9.4 tons per acre. It is further estimated that 87 percent of the total crop is of marketable quality.

Buckwheat made an average yield of 20 bushels per acre, which is somewhat higher than shown by the October figures and indicates a total production of 280,000 bushels, compared with 231,000 bushels last year. The quality is 93 percent.

The yield of white potatoes averaged 96 bushels per acre, and is nearly double that of last year. From these figures a total production of 8,640,000 bushels is indicated, compared with 4,400,000 bu. last year. The quality is 91 percent, but 75 percent of the crop will be consumed on the farms where produced.

Sweet potatoes, average 120 bu.

per acre and indicates a total production of 360,000 bushels, compared with 315,000 bushels last year. The quality is 93 percent and 35 percent of the crop will be marketed.

The average yield of tobacco is 900 pounds per acre on one of the largest acreages ever put out. These figures indicate a total production of 16,110,000 pounds compared with 15,215,000 pounds last year. The quality is 85 percent of a high, medium grade. Of the total amount produced approximately 55 percent is of the burley type, 40 percent of the dark or one-sucker type and 5 percent of the cigar type.

The total production of apples this year is 67 percent of a full crop and amounts to 6,100,000 bu. compared with 1,704,000 bushels last year. The quality is only 79 percent of a high, medium grade and is due to the extremely warm weather during October affecting the earlier varieties of winter apples. Pears are 2 percent over a normal crop with a total production of 663,000 bushels, compared with 188,000 bushels last year. The quality is 94 percent of a high medium grade. Grapes show 93 percent of a normal yield.

The yield of clover seed was very disappointing in many localities, although the state average is 1.5 bu. per acre. On this figure a total production of 157,000 bushels is indicated, compared with 75,000 bu. last year. About the usual acreage was out, but the quality of the seed is not up to normal.

Grain sorghum and field peas produced good crops of both grain and forage. The acreage of the former was not quite up to the usual, but the latter was considerably greater than is usually harvested.

Sorghum cane produced about the usual amount of syrup per acre, but the acreage was considerably increased in many localities. The quality of the syrup was somewhat affected by frost in some of the northern counties.

Sugar beets show a slight increase in condition over the October report. The sugar content is exceptionally high in most localities

Two Years Ago Today

Two years ago this morning the people of Rush county were suddenly converted into a howling mass of humanity. Released from a severe nervous strain of eighteen months, their joy knew no bounds, not only because of the effect the armistice would have in changing the events of their lives, but likewise because they realized that loved ones who were daily subjected to the danger of battle, would return home safely.

On that day no one was willing to venture a guess on what the next few years held for the people of this country. An early peace was desired; quick reconstruction as an aim to be achieved was voiced by men in public life; many visioned a transformation from war to peace over night.

What has transpired in the last two years needs no recounting here. We know that reconstruction has been slow, but that the return to normal is being accomplished gradually, but with safety so far.

Today our thoughts turn the deeds of those who made the contentment and freedom from war possible today. We honor those who live, and we should not forget those that are not here and who never knew the great good that has resulted from their sacrifices.

Rush county did not observe Armistice Day today. There was no firing of anvils or waving of flags. Perhaps many believe that proper tribute was not paid to the stalwart millions who sprang to the defense of their native land. But just as shouting at sight of the Stars and Stripes on Fourth of July does not make an American, so noisier demonstration does not betoken gratitude or appreciation of the service rendered by the men who engaged in battle on foreign soil. The true measure of one's gratitude may be found in the everyday routine of life—the living of a life which befits a true American citizen.

Jokes by Jury

One of the most brutal premeditated murders ever committed in this country occurred in Chicago.

Carl Wanderer, a former army officer, shot to death his wife and their unborn child and a poor tramp who had been hired by the murderer to stage a fake holdup.

A jury of men, supposedly sane, fixed his punishment at twenty-five years in the penitentiary. Good behavior will reduce it to fourteen years.

Decent people the country over have been both amazed and disgusted at this verdict.

It is becoming so increasingly difficult to mete out justice through the medium of men juries that some courts and prosecutors are beginning to consider calling in the women for jury service.

It is painfully evident that their sense of honor, right and justice is far superior to that of modern man.

A jury of women might hesitate at the death penalty, but they at least would have given this human monster a life sentence in the penitentiary.

The correction of these nauseating jokes by jury appear to be up to the womanhood of our country.

Yes, we just knew the women could readily adapt themselves to circumstances. There wasn't even a powder puff provided for the stuffy old voting booths, and yet the dear things smiled sweetly through it all.

When a fellow moves away nearly everybody hates to see him go—except his next door neighbor.

True, civilization may be degenerating, but that's no reason why you should wait for it to catch up.

And still, it isn't every king who goes to heaven by way of a monkey bite.

NOVEMBER'S COME.

Hey, you swelled-up turkey feller! Struttin' round so big and proud, Pretty quick I guess your baller won't be goin' quite so loud. Say, I'd up and hide, I bet you, And I'd leave off eatin' some. Else the choppin' block 'll get you—Don't you know November's come?

Don't you know that Grandma's makin' Loads of mince and pumpkin pies? Don't you smell those goodies cookin'? Can't you see 'em? Where's your eyes?

Tell that rooster there that's crowin'. Cute folks now are keepin' mum: They don't show how fat they're growin' When they know November's come.

"Gobble gobble!" oh, no matter! Pretty quick you'll change your tune; You'll be dead and in a platter, And I'll gobble pretty soon. "I was I'd stop my puffin." And I'd look most awful glum—Hope they give you lots of stuffin'! Ain't you glad November's come? —Joseph C. Lincoln

Friend Wife's Gift of Gab

All charter members of the old and honorable order of henpecked husbands have been duly initiated with the rites (and fights) of wife's gift of gab. Many of the degree members would like to call their darling's attention to the little liberty taken with Bobby Burn's famous lines—

"O wad some power the giftie gie us

To hear oursel's as ither hearus".

Even friend wife has laughed at the editorial quips about her gift of gab presented on the motion picture screen in The Literary Digest "Topics of the Day". As all these comments are in the spirit of good-natured fun, we print some sayings below—just to read as you run.

What Red Cross is Doing Now That the War is Over

The question is frequently asked, what is the Red Cross is doing, now that the war is ended?

It is engaged in Health Education and in the teaching of Sanitation and Hygiene.

It has furnished over one thousand and Public Health nurses as community leaders.

It has established and trained classes in First Aid in connection with industrial and civic organizations as well as domestic life.

It has bound together in the Junior Red Cross fourteen million school children in an organization whose ideal is Service and whose program is the breeding of sound American citizenship.

It is striving to be the reserve of the Army and Navy, the auxiliary of the American people and the friend of suffering humanity.

For these reasons it is asking the American people to renew their dollar memberships during the Fourth Roll Call, November 11 to 25.

Gave It To His Little Daughter

Five year old girl had bad case of catarrh in the head, no appetite, weak and pale. Father got great relief himself from Drecto and that is why he gave it to her.

"I got so much good from taking Drecto that I put my little five year old girl to taking it and there is a big difference in her now," said Mr. Willis Baker, the well known concrete contractor of 1318 East Mark in St., Kokomo, Ind.

"I had never been able to get rid of constipation, pains in my back, indigestion, gas in my stomach and heartburn, till I tried this new medicine Drecto and I believe the first dose did me good. Drecto also worked my liver off, thereby relieving those awful dizzy spells and cleared off my tongue."

"I had catarrh which kept me hawking all the time and clearing my throat. Drecto overcame this for me, and I started my little girl taking it, and there is a big improvement in her. The color has returned to her cheeks; she romps and plays has a good appetite and the catarrh is all gone. I am a strong believer in Drecto."

All good druggists now sell Drecto and it is being especially introduced by F. B. Johnson & Co.—Adv.

FRANCE ONLY ALLY TO CONQUER WAR

Only Nation of Allied Powers Who
Today is Free From Strikes or
Social Unrest

WORKS MIRACLES IN 2 YEARS

Quick Readjustment to New Standard of Living Leaves Nation
Free of Industrial Strikes

By HENRY WOOD

Paris, Nov. 11—Within two years after the signing of the armistice, France has worked two veritable miracles—one of readjustment and one of reconstruction.

As a result of this miracle of readjustment, although France was the one allied country that suffered most from the war, and the one country in which the increase in the cost of living was the greatest, she is the only one of the big Allied powers, who today is entirely free from any strikes or social unrest of an economic nature.

Furthermore, she is the only one of the big Allied powers who in the same period of time has been able to free herself fully and definitely from the menace of Bolshevism. The death knell of the latter was sounded a month ago when in national convention at Orleans the French Federation of Labor almost unanimously condemned the leaders who up until eight months ago ordered and supported political strikes amongst the French workingmen.

Instead of waiting, as much of the rest of the world has done, for economic life to re-establish itself on the pre-war basis, France saw at once that this would never happen and immediately readjusted herself to the new economic life imposed by the war.

The official statistics of the Allied countries place the increase in the cost of living in France as a result of the war at 300 per cent.

Yet, despite this astounding handicap, official figures of the French Ministry of Public Instruction, show that salaries generally throughout France have now been increased from 200 to 300 percent.

It is this quick readjustment of the whole economic basis of French life to the new standard of living created by the war, that has left France entirely free from industrial strikes for the past nine months and has wiped out completely the menace of Bolshevism.

All France is hard at work today on a fairly contented basis to repair the havoc and damages wrought by the war.

Like all other Allied nations in Europe, one of the greatest damages to France from the war was the increase in her importations and the decrease in her exportations resulting in the frightful decrease in the value of French money in foreign countries.

Yet the most astounding progress is being made to remedy this by increase in French production and consequently increased exportation and decreased importation.

During the first seven months of 1919 France exported only 4,776, 402,000 francs worth of merchandise and produce. For the first seven months of 1920, these exportations were increased to 12,006,630,000 francs, a gain of over 7,000,000,000 francs. France's total importations for 1919 were 29,778,000,000 francs against only 8,713,000,000 francs of exportations.

For all of 1920 it is estimated that her importations will only be 27,304,000,000 francs and her exportations 20,582,000,000, showing a steady progress towards the reestablishment of equal importations necessary to overcome the present ruinous rate of French exchange.

As regards commercial relations with the United States France's importations for July from America which totaled $58,961,554 were reduced for the month of August to $38,321,950, showing how fast French industries are getting back on a basis where they can supply the needs of France without recourse to foreign countries.

France has kept equal pace in the reconstruction of her devastated regions.

Of the 2,712,000 French citizens who were driven from their homes by the German invasion, 1,533,000 are now back on the job.

Of the 5,570 kilometers of railway destroyed during the war 4,070 kilometers are back in operation.

Of the 5,760,000 acres of land rendered uncultivable because of the presence of unexploded shells and missiles, 5,220,000 acres have been cleaned and put back into cultivation.

Of the 3,060,000 acres of ground that were pounded into nothing by shell fire and other war activities, 2,870,000 have been restored to productivity.

Of the 11,500 factories that were destroyed by the war 3,540 are already back in operation and another 3,842 are under reconstruction.

Of the 379,000 people who were employed in these factories before the war, 257,831 are back at work in them.

RAILROADS PROTEST AGAINST NEW RATES

Twenty Five Lines Go Before Public Service Commission Wanting Milk Rate Changed

WERE GRANTED 20 PERCENT

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Twenty-five steam carriers appeared before Examiner Disque of the Interstate Commerce Commission here today in protest to the recent order of the Indiana Public Service Commission granting the railroads a 20 percent increase in milk and cream and baggage rates.

The Public service commission denied the petition of the railroads for a 57 percent increase in these commodities.

The Indiana commission refused to grant the road a 40 percent increase in freight rates and gave them an increase of 30 percent. It also refused to grant the roads the increase in passenger fares from 3 cents per mile to 3.6 cents believing that the railroads were not entitled to the increase at this time. However the commission did allow the railroads to make a surcharge of 50 percent on Pullman rates.

The hearing was to be held in the Federal building.

Obituary

Sarah A., daughter of Reese and Pamela Haworth, was born Jan. 16, 1836 in Vermillion Co., Ill. Died Nov. 8th, 1920, age 84 years, 9 months and 22 days.

In April 1855, at the New Salem church in Howard Co., Ind., she was united in marriage with Miles W. Carr, according to the marriage rites of the Quaker church.

To this union were born five sons and one daughter. Four of the sons survive her, Charley and Owen of Rushville, Ind., Perry of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Iva of Miami, Fla. She is also survived by twelve grandchildren and seven great-grand-children.

She was a life member of the Friends Church and an active worker while conditions permitted. Hers was a quiet, consistent christian life, and when told by the family she could not recover, she said, "There is nothing in my way. I am in the hands of a merciful Father".

She was always industrious and useful, a good indulgent mother, ready at any time to make my sacrifice for her family and especially devoted to Charley who has always lived with her.

She will be missed, but we are comforted, knowing our loss is her gain.

The Rebekah Lodge will hold their regular stated meeting Friday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. The presence of all the team is desired as the degree will be conferred on two candidates. Other matters of importance will also be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Haydon, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Young, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. George Griesser and Dr. and Mrs. Carl Beher, will form a theatre party tonight, and will see David Warfield in "The Return of Peter Grimm", at the English theatre in Indianapolis.

The Marian Social Circle of the St. Mary's Catholic church was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Harry Euler in North Harrison street this afternoon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Philip Heeb in the serving of refreshments at the close of the social afternoon.

Mrs. Ollie Haywood delightfully entertained last evening with a family dinner at her home in West Third street. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a large bouquet of fall flowers and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. James Draper of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonzo Draper and family of Greenfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Osro Draper and family of Charlottesville. A delicious two course oyster supper was served.

Mrs. Phil Wilk, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. George F. Griesser and Mrs. Harry G. Francis have issued invitations for a formal party to be given next Wednesday afternoon, November 17, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of the latter 820 North Harrison street. A program has been arranged for the entertainment of the ladies. In the evening at 6:30 o'clock the same ladies, including their husbands, will entertain with a dinner party, at the home of Mrs. Francis.

Large French baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and potted ferns formed the artistic decorations for the home of Mrs. Loren Meek this afternoon, when about fifty ladies were delightfully entertained with a prettily appointed bridge party. The hostesses were Mrs. Meek, Mrs. Paul Boehm and Mrs. Glen Foster. Mrs. J. W. Giltner of Akron, Ohio, the house guest of Mrs. Lowell Green, was the only out-of-town guest present. At the close of the bridge party the hostesses served a two course luncheon.

Yesterday being the annual inspection of the Woman's Relief Corps, about twenty-two members of the organization gathered at the home of their president, Mrs. Sarah Guffin in North Morgan street for a delicious pitch-in dinner. The honored guests' table and the small tables were decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Eliza J. Crisler, the inspector, arrived on the 11:30 train yesterday morning and was met at the station by Mrs. Guffin and was immediately taken to her home where the pitch-in dinner was served. The inspector was presented during the dinner hour with a beautiful corsage bouquet of chrysanthemums by Mrs. Turner.

After the repast the ladies went to the Red Men's hall where the inspection was held. Everything was done according to the ritual of the order and very little correction was made. Mrs. Crisler was entertained by Mrs. Guffin and returned to her home in Greensburg this morning. Thirty-eight members were present for the inspection.

Members of the third division of the Social Club entertained the members of the club with a dinner dance last evening in the clubrooms in North Morgan street. Covers were laid for ninety-five guests for the dinner and a large crowd remained for the dance which followed the dinner. The Greensburg jazz orchestra provided splendid music for the dancers throughout the evening.

Following is the year's program of social events to be given by the club: Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday

Nov. 24, men's dinner dance; Wednesday evening, Dec. 8, dinner-dance, in charge of the first division; holiday dance, Wednesday evening, Dec. 29, reception and dance; Wednesday evening Jan. 12, dinner-dance in charge of the second division; Wednesday evening, January 26, dinner-dance, in charge of the third division; Wednesday evening, February 9, dinner-dance, in charge of the first division; Wednesday evening, February 23, dinner-dance, in charge of the second division; St. Patrick's Day, Wednesday, March 16, men's dinner dance.

SLENDER LINES

A WOMAN who lived on a farm, who claims that her diet is necessarily limited to farm products, wrote me recently, asking how she might reduce. The things which I particularly stated were to be avoided, were things she said formed the chief dishes on the table. Pork, potatoes, wheat bread, butter, milk, eggs—all fattening, but all raised on the farm.

Now, of course, the woman who lives near some large market can pick and choose from a great variety for her table. But the farm woman can follow the reduction diet more easily than she thinks. She can cut out the milk and cream and butter from her diet, she need not eat pork products, and she can stop eating the rich home-baked cakes and pastries. This means a certain self-sacrifice on her part, for the fatter the body the greater the appetite. But no fat woman will starve, no matter how little she eats, for the body immediately starts feeding itself from its own accumulated flesh, and reduces itself while keeping up the proper supply of nourishment.

The farm woman really has many advantages over the city woman in planning a reduction diet. She can raise her own green vegetables, and put up many of them to last out the winter. She can eat fowl as much as she wants, without adding flesh, and incurring expense. She can do without water at meals, since this adds flesh, she can get about in the air, and have the real benefits of work and exercise.

Goodrich Silent on His Complaint Regarding Appointment

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Gov. James P. Goodrich was silent today on the demand of Governor-elect McCray, who lives at Kentland.

McCray, who demanded a change in the tax board personnel was opposed to Governor Goodrich in reappointing Philip Zoercher to the tax board. He said he had been told that his term of office would continue for several months and that the governor was informed that he did not favor his reappointment to the four year term.

Goodrich was at the bedside of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frist, of Lynn, Ind., who is lying at the point of death in the St. Vincent hospital here.

Squirrels may be hunted up until December 20. It is unlawful to hunt rabbits with a ferret, or to hunt in any manner on Sunday. Hunters should also remember that it is against the law to shoot along a public highway in an automobile, or to shoot across a road from one field into another.

Using a spot light on an automobile at night is contrary to the state law, and the person is subject to a heavy fine.

active part in the war were represented by delegations. Scores of bells temporarily installed on the hoods of automobiles added to the din. Many townships had large delegations riding in decorated farm wagons. A dilapidated hearse was drawn in the parade as the funeral car of the kaiser and a placard on it intimated that he was some place besides heaven.

The first anniversary of the ending of the war was very fittingly celebrated here last year. The observance began at the mystic hour of eleven which figured so prominently in the cessation of hostilities. The feature of the day was the sealing of the court house walls by "The Human Fly." An immense crowd of people was here to witness the performance both in the afternoon and at night, when he climbed the walls of the building again under the glare of a spotlight.

At two o'clock in the afternoon a service flag parade was held and at three o'clock Col. Robert A. Tyn-dall, former commander of the 150th Field Artillery, spoke. A sparkler parade preceded the exhibition by "The Human Fly" at night.

The fact that the people have just emerged from an intense political campaign is believed the reason for there not being a demand for a celebration this year. A number of cities observed the occasion, but the day was not formally recognized here with the exception that a few people displayed the Stars and Stripes.

Throughout the country on Sunday memorial services will be held for more than 100,000 American soldiers who were killed or of disease—114,465 is the number, according to government statistics. President Wilson has specially proclaimed next Sunday the day for memorial services.

Nineteen thousand five hundred men wounded and disabled, many of them crippled for life, are still government hospitals undergoing treatment, according to figures the War Risk insurance bureau. Some American troops are still in Europe. They constitute the army occupation, 15,000 strong at Cien, Germany, where the American forces were assigned under the terms of the armistice.

And according to all reports these soldiers are living a very different life from those who were tramped through the mud and rain in dugouts. Because of the dearth of German money, the American soldiers with their $30 a month in the millionaire class. German not being dry, a large glass of beer can be obtained there for one cent in American money. Other prices are in proportion.

Nearly half of the cost of the war to America in actual dollars has been paid, according to Treasury Department figures. This, however, is exclusive of the $10,000,000 loaned the allies.

Exclusive of that $10,000,000, former Secretary of the Treasury Glass estimated the war cost the country $26,007,000,000. Of that $11,180,000,000 was paid in taxes during the course of the war; afterwar. Two and a half billion more has been paid since the armistice—a total of $13,680,000,000.

Under present plans of retiring the debt it will take about twenty-five years to retire the remainder.

LASKER PLAN LOOKS MOST FAVORABLE NOW

Five American League Teams Will Enter The New National Baseball League

FINAL DECISION FRIDAY

Kansas, City, Mo., Nov. 11—The five loyal American League club owners will join the new National League club owners in a peace conference at Chicago Friday, it was announced here by Garry Hermann.

Plans for reorganization of baseball will be drawn up at the Chicago meeting and the threatened war probably will be averted, all baseball leaders stated today.

Hermann made the announcement about the probability of a national association of professional baseball league here Friday. During his speech he was interrupted by a message brought in, which was a communication from five club owners who stood with Ban Johnson.

Aside from the announcement that the meeting would be held Friday, Hermann, on continuance of his speech, presented arguments for the Lasker plan of reorganization of baseball. The Lasker plan will be drawn up and indications were that it would be adopted, Hermann stated.

If an agreement of the major league is in sight for reorganization plans, the minor leagues are expected to swing into line and endorse any action the major leagues may take.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO BRITISH DEAD

England Celebrated 2nd Anniversary of Armistice Day by Impressive Demonstration

KING GEORGE PARTICIPATES

When "Maroons" Boomed Forth Hour Hostilities Ceased King Unveiled the Cenotaph

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, Nov. 11—England celebrated the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice by an impressive demonstration. In London and most big cities the old air-raid "maroon" warnings were fired as the clocks struck the hour at which hostilities ceased on the Western front, and foot-passengers came to a halt in the streets, standing with bowed heads.

Londoners had a special and most impressive ceremony, when as the "maroons" boomed forth the hour King George unveiled the permanent memorial to "The Glorious Dead", known as the Cenotaph, on Whitehall. The monument is the marble replica of the temporary Cenotaph erected for the great Victory parade last year, and which was saluted by the troops of the Allied nations. Originally it was intended to erect a much larger memorial in one of the parks or big open spaces, but the plaster cast of Sir Edwin Lutyens' severely plain yet weirdly and solemnly beautiful design caught the public imagination and the spot where it was originally erected, almost opposite the Whitehall end of Downing street, became a national shrine hallowed by the tears of countless pilgrims.

Unimaginative officials wished to remove the structure immediately after the Victory parade but there was such a public outcry that it was allowed to remain until the plaster began to crumble, and the erection of a more substantial memorial became imperative. Again officialdom wished to erect the marble replica elsewhere, but the British nation expressed its wishes so definitely that the officials gave way and the permanent Cenotaph today rests on the original spot in Whitehall.

King George with Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, Duke of York, and Princess Mary drove from Buckingham Palace attended by a brilliant staff and a sovereign's escort of Life Guards resplendent in pre-war carlet, gold and steel. Drawn up around the veiled Cenotaph were detachments representing every branch of the army, navy, air force and services. Allied diplomats and foreign naval and military attaches were also present, as were Premier Lloyd George and the cabinet. A funeral party of the Guards in pre-war crimson and gold stood at each corner of the memorial with heads bowed over their reversed rifles and guards of honor of the King's Company, Grenadier Guards and the Royal Navy with standards and bands, stood ready to render honors.

The formerly dreaded air-raid warnings boomed out the hour. King George, standing a little in front of the royal group immediately pulled the silken cord releasing the drapery, and stood at the salute. The guards of honor presented arms and the huge concourse remained absolutely stationary for the prescribed two minutes.

The silence was only broken when the trumpets of the Guards sounded the "Last Post" and "All Clear". Before leaving the Cenotaph King George placed a large wreath at the foot of the plinth, an example which was imitated by Lloyd George, and other prominent British and Allied representatives. The inscription, "The Glorious Dead", caught the popular imagination more than any thing else. During the afternoon floral tributes of every description, from expensive hot-house products to humble bunches of wild flowers, were piled round the plinth.

FRANCE HONORS 2 IMPORTANT DATES

Nation Celebrates Jointly 50th Anniversary of Republic and Signing of Armistice

UNITE TWO IMPORTANT DATES

Most Striking Feature is Removal to and Final Interment of Founder of Third Republic
By HENRY WOOD

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Nov. 11.—All France is to-day celebrating jointly the fiftieth anniversary of the republic and the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the late war.

In commemoration of the joint celebration, the above inscription uniting the two dates has just been permanently inscribed on the Arch of Triumph at the Etoile.

In order to give special significance however, it was decided not to chisel the dates on the monument itself along with the hundreds of thousands of others, but to engrave it in the flagstones directly underneath the center of the great arch.

While the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the French republic occurred on September 4, the celebration of it was postponed until today. The one celebration marks the birth of the republic; the other its salvation.

By far the most striking feature of today's celebration is the removal to and final interment at the Pantheon of the heart of Gambetta, the founder of the third republic.

The heart of Gambetta was taken from his tomb this week at the Villa of Less Jardis at Ville d'Avray and placed in a box of wood, made from the pine of the Vosges, which Gambetta loved so well. Last night the sacred relic placed on an artillery carriage and escorted by military contingents was brought to Paris and rested for the night, surrounded by troops and guards under the center of the Arch of Triumph and just over the inscription given above, engraved in the flagstones.

Then, today, for the final escorting of this relic to the Pantheon, Paris witnessed one of the most remarkable processions under the Arch of Triumph that it has ever seen.

First of all there passed under the Arch the battle flags of the entire French army as it exists today—active, reserve, colonial, as well as all battleflags taken from the French in past wars but later returned by their former victors.

Scores of the flags that passed under the Arch of Triumph today were brought especially for the occasion from thousands and thousands of miles distance.

Each flag-bearer was escorted by two soldiers from the regiment to which the flag belonged.

In addition, there also participated in the procession the survivors of the war of 1870 and the mutilated of the present war.

This procession after passing under the Arch of Triumph continued its way along streets lined on both sides with troops holding their bayoneted rifles at attention, until the square in front of the Pantheon was reached.

At the Pantheon both a musical and literary ceremony marked the final interment of Gambetta's heart in the great monument where lie the remains of the greatest men of France.

During the afternoon still another ceremony was held at the Hotel de Ville for the reception of the delegations from Alsace-Lorraine, as well as the mayors of all the French cities and villages.

This evening four great military processions will leave the Hotel de Ville marching out in four different directions, one to Place de la Concorde, one to Place de la Republique, one to the Lion de Belfort and one to Place de la Nation.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BONUS OFFERED

Rep Wason of New Hampshire
Proposes to Refund Money Paid
for Dependents Support

$300,000,000 APPROPRIATION

His Measure Would Affect 2,000,000
Former Service Men Who Allowed
Dependent's Share

Washington, Nov. 11—Representative Wason, of New Hampshire, proposes a substitute for the bonus bill, which will be debated in the Senate next month, which would confine soldier benefits to the return on money sent home to relatives by enlisted men during the conflict. He says:

"How much more useful it would be for the Government to consider returning to each soldier, sailor, and marine the amount of money that he allotted during his service for the support of his dependent relatives? By such a program approximately 2,000,000 ex-service men and women would be affected, and there would be distributed throughout the United States the sum of $300,000,000, which would be apportioned to each State according to the number of men in each state who during their service made allotments to their dependent relatives, and which allotments were supported by Government family allowance, giving evidence of the dependency of these relatives. I have given much thought and study to this problem and have compiled certain reliable statistics, which I will make a part of this record.

"The men and women who have been disabled by reason of their active service would, I feel, confident, be entirely in sympathy and accord with such a program, even though many of them have already expressed themselves in favor of those sections of the bill coming under Title II to which I have referred in the earlier part of my remarks. Gentlemen these matters are of such grave importance that they should be given consideration without any influence of party lines. At least, I insist that there cannot be, and should not be any objection to a thorough discussion of this bill on the floor of this House, with the usual privilege of amendment, and therefore I opposed the adoption of this rule and the jamming through of the bill without amendment after a debate of forty minutes.

"The following important provisions are included in the bill which I introduced and has passed the House and is pending in the Senate and should be enacted into law immediately. It will materially extend the Government service to the disabled soldiers and to all exservice men and women as well as to their dependent relatives. Certain other provisions of the bill will improve materially the Bureau of War Risk Insurance equipment in the administering of all the features under the original war-risk insurance act and its subsequent amendments.

This bill affects both the administration of the original war-risk insurance act and its subsequent amendments liberalizes existing provisions and adds such provisions as are believed to be in the vital interest of former service men and women, as well as their dependent relatives.

As affecting the administration the provisions included are:

"First: To authorize the establishment of a reasonable number of regional and suboffices for the purpose of expediting the handling of adjustments of allotment and allowance cases, compensation claims, physical examinations, medical treatment and hospital care, as well as insurance claims, in the various States where the ex-service men and women and their dependent relatives are now located.

"The present method, compelling all cases to be handled by correspondence with Washington, is entirely unsatisfactory, and has caused the ex-service men and women, as well as their dependent relatives, to suffer much hardship, and they have registered bitter complaint against what they regard as the Government's neglect in giving proper consideration to their needs.

SAYS UNIONS ARE BACK OF EXPLOSION

New York World Blames Feud Between New York House Wreckers For Wall Street Tragedy

A PRIVATE INVESTIGATION

Department of Justice Promises to Make Inquiry Into Story Published by Newspaper

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11.—The department of justice will at once investigate the story that a feud among the New York house wrecking unions was back of the explosion in Wall Street, killing several persons.

The announcement was made by Robert Scott, secretary to Attorney General Palmer, after he was informed that the New York World had published the result of an independent investigation of the explosion.

Scott declared that the department had no information such as published by the World but declared that they would ask the paper for the information in its possession.

Department operators will then go to work on the basis of this information.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Evening World today under the headlines, "Wall Street Explosion Solved," declared that through an independent investigation it had discovered that the bomb, which killed more than 30 persons in Wall street Sept. 16, was intended to blow up a house-wrecking job near the Morgan offices.

It was the work of independent members or sympathizers with the house wrecking local union No. 95, which had a grievance against the Brindell Builders Trade's council, dock builders and house shorers union No. 1456, members of which were workers in the house wrecking job, the Evening World said.

The bomb wagon was driven by a big stolid Pole, who did not know what was in the wagon, the newspaper asserted.

The bomb was clock-worked and was set at 12:02 p. m. and was consigned to contractors at work on the house wrecking job.

There was some delay in crossing street intersections and when the horse driven wagon reached Wall Street, the hour arrived and the bomb exploded.

It is the very time now for the police and the federal detectives to find out who planned the "ticking clock bomb," which was hauled almost to the entrance of Wall Street, by a broken down horse driven by a man who did not know what was in his load and who went away when

Significance of Anniversary of The Ending of War is Impressed With Two Speeches

PATRIOTIC SONGS WERE SUNG

Armistice Day was observed in the high school this afternoon with a short program at the regular assembly hour immediately after the noon intermission.

A. M. Taylor, principal, lead the school in the singing of "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner," and then recited briefly the events which led up to the World War. He also explained in a few words the cause of the war and how America was finally involved.

Ira L. Shultz, high school history instructor, made a short talk regarding the period following the war. He emphasized the need of devotion to the higher ideals of the forefathers of the country as a means of curing the evils of the present day. He impressed on the pupils that the religious side of life was equally as important as the materialistic side.

ASKS DIVORCE AND $2,000 IN ALIMONY

Bessie Combs Files Suit Against Charles Combs, Meat Dealer of Glenwood

RESTRAINING ORDER GRANTED

Bessie Combs today filed suit for divorce, alimony and custody of a child, against Charles Combs, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment during their married life. The complaint states that they were married in 1908, and separated Nov. 9. Mrs. Combs also filed a petition asking for a restraining order against her husband.

Judge Sparks this morning issued an order enjoining Mr. Combs from selling or disposing of his personal property. The complaint stated that he is the owner of real estate and personal property to the extent of $5,000 and that his annual income is $2,400. She also stated that he owns one half interest in a meat shop in Connersville and Glenwood.

She demands $2,000 alimony, $10 a week support and the custody of their five year old son and $200 attorney fees. The matter for support will be heard in the court Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. She charged him with having a violent temper, and on different occasions striking her. Both parties are residents of Glenwood.

JUDGE SPARKS TO SPEAK

Judge Will M. Sparks of this city will speak at the Connersville high school tonight as a part of the campaign which is being conducted to center interest in the schools. There will be light in every school house in Fayette county tonight and meetings will be held in most of them.

To the American Legion

New York, Nov. 11.—National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr., of the American Legion today issued the following message on Armistice Day:

"The swift triumph of our arms and those of our gallant allies, which two years ago gave us the victory, the anniversary of which we celebrate today, marks the high-light of the present century in American affairs. Victories such as Armistice Day commemorates are not the issues solely of 'clashes of flesh and steel. They are finer quality than that. They are the triumphs, as well, of an unconquerable spirit."

"No victory, however complete, long can survive the spirit that conceived it. The annals of mankind are replete with example, splendid triumphs in behalf of splendid causes, that have gone for naught because the spirit that made them ceased to endure."

"This is only the second anniversary of Armistice Day—a day destined, if we will, to keep company with the immortals of the calendar that mark great moments of history that shall never die. Succeeding generations will acclaim Armistice Day. God grant they always shall acclaim it; and that this spirit, like the day, shall be imperishable."

"With this prayer in our hearts let us renew each year our vows of fealty, repledge and keep unshakable our faith in the high ideals, the lofty purposes, the unselfish aspirations and exalted, holy hopes that fired the hearts of Americans in 1918 and made ours a land, from whence crusaders came, with soul aflame, worthy of their victory."

"To this end the American Legion, today and forever, solemnly pledges its all."

Posts of the Legion in all parts of the country are planning Armistice Day celebrations at which the government Victory Medals will be distributed to veterans.

ARMISTICE DAY NOT RECOGNIZED

But There Is No One Who Does Not Recall Historical Events Which Transpired 2 Years Ago.

NEWS SPREAD OVER COUNTY

Nov. 11, 1918, Consisted of One Celebration After Another—Big Parade at Night.

Armistice Day passed unrecognized in any organized way today, but there is not a person in Rush county who does not recall the historic events which transpired two years ago this day.

The first news that hostilities would cease at eleven o'clock on that day was received at 2:30 a. m. in the form of a flash from the United Press to the Daily Republican. People were slow to grasp the meaning of the news. Signing of the armistice had been prematurely announced four days before, on seemingly good authority, and was responsible for many hesitating about taking the news as authentic.

However, by eight o'clock in the morning the fact began to dawn on the people that war had in reality ended and that they would again see the boys who had been called from Rush county to fight for their country's honor.

The court house bell began ringing, factory whistles were tied down engine whistles blew and bedlam broke loose. There was one spontaneous demonstration after another. Flags were quickly brought out and unfurled. Motorists paraded singly and in groups. Every noise-making device imaginable was brought into play.

The first blush of joy at the news of the armistice signed ran its course, and cooler heads arranged a meeting of business men at the court house at ten or eleven o'clock. There a sum of money was quickly raised and plans were made for a well ordered celebration that night.

Although lacking the spontaneity of the morning demonstrations, the night parade was a very joyous and fitting close for the historic day. An immense crowd, believed to have been the biggest ever assembled in Rushville, surged through the streets. When the parade began to move at seven o'clock, the streets were one solid and compact mass of people with the exception of a small lane through the center.

HUNTERS IN GRAND RUSH AFTER GAME

Season Opens With a Bang and Scores Flock to Fields, Hoping to Be "Early Birds"

MANY LICENSES ARE SOLD

Hunters Advised to Take Them Along to Avoid Trouble—Game Wardens Activity Responsible

The hunting season opened in Rush county yesterday with a bang. More hunting licenses have been issued within the past month than at any previous time in the history of the county clerk's office. Scores of hunters flocked to the fields Wednesday and today hoping to be one of the proverbial "early birds" which always gets the worm.

The season for rabbits, quail and squirrel opened yesterday, and for several days prior to the opening of the season, a rush has been made to secure licenses. Several years ago people neglected to get licenses, but within the past year deputy state game wardens have been active in these parts, and many have paid fines for not having a license.

With each license issued, it is good advice to ask the county clerk for a copy of the state game laws. This little booklet gives all information desired about the open and closed season, the bag limits and information regarding the fish laws.

A hunting license costs $1.00 and includes fishing and hunting privileges for one year, any place within the state. A fishing license is not required for a resident of the county, or for anyone who lives within adjacent counties.

Hunters are also advised to carry their licenses with them while hunting, as a license will not do any good if left at home. It must be presented when demanded by any one to be seen.

County Clerk Loren Martin expects to be busy for several weeks issuing licenses, as the usual Thanksgiving and Christmas rush will be on within a few days.

While rabbits could be hunted before yesterday, very few go out before, as the warm weather was not favorable to bring out the young rabbits. November 10 is recognized all over the state as the official day for the winter hunting season to open.

It is lawful to hunt quail only from November 10 to December 20, which is the shortest season for

NO SLACKENING OF DEMAND FOR WORKERS

Survey of Nation Shows With Few Exceptions Industrial Conditions Are Normal.

AFFECTIONS IN SPOTS ONLY

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 11.—Barometers of labor in the northwest show little slackening in the industries for the demand of workers.

While industries in some spots—the automobile industry for example—is laying off men, the majority of the industries are still retaining their men.

The survey of the labor conditions by the United Press shows that with the exception of only one or two places, the situation was normal, compared to the pre-war conditions.

Practically all lines of work which are slowing down production are the ones which developed greatest during the war boom. At Tulsa, Oklahoma, it was reported that there were more men than jobs, the first time in years.

The survey failed to show any alarming slackening in the demand for men.

OBSERVANCE IN STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Indiana paid tribute to her soldier dead today. Cities and towns throughout the state paused to do honor to the honored dead in commemoration of the second anniversary of the Armistice Day.

A majority of the banks and public buildings closed and in a number of instances factories suspended work.

AMERICA HAS PAID HALF HER WAR DEBT

At 2nd Anniversary of Signing of Armistice Two Foremost Leaders Step Back in Private Life

WILSON AND PERSHING RETIRE

Throughout Country Next Sunday Memorial Services Will be Held For 100,000 Dead Soldiers

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11.—On the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the world war, America's two foremost leaders in that conflict are making ready to step back into private life.

Just two years ago today President Wilson, standing in the House of Representatives, read to an assemblage of congressmen, cabinet, officials and diplomats the terms of the document the Germans had been forced to sign. Today, the president—a white haired invalid—a casualty of the great war he helped end, his friends say—is making ready to leave the White House for some quiet home where he probably will write a history of the great events in which he stood as a leading figure.

Gen. John J. Pershing, head of the American Expeditionary force, soon will put aside the khaki. The first full general since Grant, has finished his reports. His work in connection with the army reorganization act is practically over. The general expects soon to take a trip to South America as an official representative of this country. Beyond that his plans are not known.

Along with President Wilson, there will retire several cabinet members who helped carry the burden of America's war effort. Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of Navy Daniels are two of these. Secretary of Labor Wilson, who helped keep the country free from labor troubles during the days of conflict; Postmaster General Burleson, who managed the telegraph and telephone lines, and Secretary Houston, now in the treasury and formerly at the head of the Agriculture Department, will also leave the cabinet.

But if the war leaders are passing, America still has before her sufficient reminder of the days when the German hordes were turned slowly back.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD AT ARLINGTON CEMETERY

Sad Notes of Taps Sounded as The Bodies of Twelve American Soldiers Are Interred

PERSHING AND BAKER SPEAK

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11.—The sad notes of taps broke out over the national cemetery today as the bodies of twelve American soldiers brought home from France, were interred in the Arlington Cemetery, alongside the boys in blue of '61 and '98 and the boys in khaki of '18.

The Virginia hillside was crowded with spectators and their heads were bowed as the solemn scene in commemoration of Armistice Day was enacted.

Throughout the country mass meetings were held in commemoration of the day the Germans surrendered.

In a number of places historic divisions conducted sham battles with trenches and barbed wire entanglements.

"Armistice Day," said General Pershing, "will come to mean to this civilized world, what Independence Day means to the United States."

Vice President Marshall said: "We turn our thoughts from the cries of politics to a cleaner army of the world."

"Our eye should turn toward France," Secretary of War Baker stated, "to the holy ground that covers the bodies of our American dead who gave their lives for our country."

CORN CROP ABOVE 10-YEAR AVERAGE

Quality This Year is Much Above
Normal, According to Indiana
Crop Reporting Service

ALL CROPS SHOW INCREASE

Yield of White Potatoes is 96 Bu.
Per Acre, Almost Double That
Of Last Year

The Indiana corn crop for 1920 goes more than 4 bushels above the 10-year average yield per acre, with the quality considerably above the usual, according to the monthly report of the co-operative crop reported on this month show a substantial increase over last year's production; especially is this true of white potatoes, which are nearly double last year's crop. The report follows:

The corn crop now being harvested is one of the best ever produced in Indiana notwithstanding the heavy frost on October 2d. Weather conditions during October could hardly have been improved upon, but there will be some fields of chaffy corn and in some localities it is down badly. The acreage is hardly up to the average, but the yield per acre—40.5 bushels—is more than 4 bushels above the 10-year average, and the heaviest since county records were established in 1914. On this yield a total production of 190,431,000 bushels is forecasted, compared with 175,750,000 bushels last year. The quality, compared with a high, medium grade, is 92 percent, and there is 9,842,000 bushels of last year's crop still on farm. To offset this however, 8.7 percent of the crop was cut for silage and the yield averaged 9.4 tons per acre. It is further estimated that 87 percent of the total crop is of marketable quality.

Buckwheat made an average yield of 20 bushels per acre, which is somewhat higher than shown by the October figures and indicates a total production of 280,000 bushels, compared with 231,000 bushels last year. The quality is 93 percent.

The yield of white potatoes averaged 96 bushels per acre, and is nearly double that of last year. From these figures a total production of 8,640,000 bushels is indicated, compared with 4,400,000 bu. last year. The quality is 91 percent, but 75 percent of the crop will be consumed on the farms where produced.

Sweet potatoes, average 120 bu.

per acre and indicates a total production of 360,000 bushels, compared with 315,000 bushels last year. The quality is 93 percent and 35 percent of the crop will be marketed.

The average yield of tobacco is 900 pounds per acre on one of the largest acreages ever put out. These figures indicate a total production of 16,110,000 pounds, compared with 15,215,000 pounds last year. The quality is 85 percent of a high, medium grade. Of the total amount produced approximately 55 percent is of the barley type, 40 percent of the dark or one-stoker type and 5 percent of the cigar type.

The total production of apples this year is 67 percent of a full crop and amounts to 6,100,000 bu. compared with 1,704,000 bushels last year. The quality is only 79 percent of a high, medium grade and is due to the extremely warm weather during October affecting the earlier varieties of winter apples. Pears are 2 percent over a normal crop with a total production of 603,000 bushels, compared with 188,000 bushels last year. The quality is 94 percent of a high medium grade. Grapes show 93 percent of a normal yield.

The yield of clover seed was very disappointing in many localities, although the state average is 1.5 bu. per acre. On this figure a total production of 157,000 bushels is indicated, compared with 75,000 bu. last year. About the usual acreage was out, but the quality of the seed is not up to normal.

Grain sorghum and field peas produced good crops of both grain and forage. The acreage of the former was not quite up to the usual, but the latter was considerably greater than is usually harvested.

Sorghum cane produced about the usual amount of syrup per acre, but the acreage was considerably increased in many localities. The quality of the syrup was somewhat affected by frost in some of the northern counties.

Sugar beets show a slight increase in condition over the October report. The sugar content is exceptionally high in most localities

Two Years Ago Today

Two years ago this morning the people of Rush county were suddenly converted into a howling mass of humanity. Released from a severe nervous strain of eighteen months, their joy knew no bounds, not only because of the effect the armistice would have in changing the events of their lives, but likewise because they realized that loved ones who were daily subjected to the danger of battle, would return home safely.

On that day no one was willing to venture a guess on what the next few years held for the people of this country. An early peace was desired; quick reconstruction as an aim to be achieved was voiced by men in public life; many visioned a transformation from war to peace over night.

What has transpired in the last two years needs no recounting here. We know that reconstruction has been slow, but that the return to normal is being accomplished gradually, but with safety so far.

Today our thoughts turn the deeds of those who made the contentment and freedom from war possible today. We honor those who live, and we should not forget those that are not here and who never knew the great good that has resulted from their sacrifices.

Rush county did not observe Armistice Day today. There was no firing of anvils or waving of flags. Perhaps many believe that proper tribute was not paid to the stalwart millions who sprang to the defense of their native land. But just as shouting at sight of the Stars and Stripes on Fourth of July does not make an American, so noisy demonstration does not betoken gratitude or appreciation of the service

FAT FOLKS BECOME SLIM EASILY, PLEASANTLY

Fat persons will be happy to learn that they might easily reduce their weight without starvation diet, drastic drugs, or strenuous exercise.

If you are overweight, are you lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden? Don't be a laughing stock any longer. Be happy!

Follow the simple directions of the Korean System. Safe and pleasant; recommended by many reliable women and men.

Surprising weight reduction reports come in every afternoon. "Few days' treatment. With proper reduction the skin becomes smooth and the general health improved. In fact, work becomes easier and a lighter, more buoyant feeling takes possession of the whole being. It is a true recreation—that of looking and feeling younger, supple, and full of enthusiasm."

To reduce ten to sixty lbs. (whatever you need to lose) without giving up your favorite food, and without any of the "diet" systems, try the Korean System. It is just what you need. rendered by the men who engaged in battle on foreign soil. The true measure of one's gratitude may be found in this everyday routine of life—the living of a life which befits a true American citizen.

Jokes by Jury

One of the most brutal premeditated murders ever committed in this country occurred in Chicago.

Carl Wanderer, a former army officer, shot to death his wife and their unborn child and a poor tramp who had been hired by the murderer to stage a fake holdup.

A jury of men, supposedly sane, fixed his punishment at twenty-five years in the penitentiary. Good behavior will reduce it to fourteen years.

Decent people the country over have been both amazed and disgusted at this verdict.

It is becoming so increasingly difficult to mete out justice through the medium of men juries that some courts and prosecutors are beginning to consider calling in the women for jury service.

It is painfully evident that their sense of honor, right and justice is far superior to that of modern man.

A jury of women might hesitate at the death penalty, but they at least would have given this human monster a life sentence in the penitentiary.

The correction of these nauseating jokes by jury appear to be up to the womanhood of our country.

Yes, we just knew the women could readily adapt themselves to circumstances. There wasn't even a powder puff provided for the stuffy old voting booths, and yet the dear things smiled sweetly through it all.

When a fellow moves away nearly everybody hates to see him go—except his next door neighbor.

True, civilization may be degenerating, but that's no reason why you should wait for it to catch up.

And still, it isn't every king who goes to heaven by way of a monkey bite.

NOVEMBER'S COME.

Hey, you swelled-up turkey feller! Struttin' round so big and proud. Pretty quick I guess your beller. "Wont, 'e go!" quite so loud. Say, 'd ar and hide, I bet you. And I'd leave off eatin' some. Else the cheppin' block 'll get you. Don't you know November's come?

Don't you know that Grandma's makin' Loads of mince and pumpkin pies? Don't you smell those goodies cookin'? Can't you see 'em? Where's your eyes?

Tell that rooster there that's crowin'. Cuts folks now are keepin' mum. They don't show how fat they're growin' When they know November's come.

"Gosh! subtle!" oh, no matter! Pretty quick you'll change your tune. You'll be dead and in a platter, and I'll gobble pretty soon.

"I was you I'd stop my puffin' And I'd look most awful glum. Hope they give you lots of stuffin'! Ain't you glad November's come?"

Friend Wife's Gift of Gab

All charter members of the old and honorable order of henpecked husbands have been duly initiated with the rites (and fights) of wife's gift of gab. Many of the degree members would like to call their darling's attention to the little liberty taken with Bobby Burn's famous lines—

"O wad some power the giftie gie us To hear oursel's as ither hears."

Even friend wife has laughed at the editorial quips about her gift of gab presented on the motion picture screen in The Literary Digest "Topics of the Day". As all these comments are in the spirit of good-natured fun, we print some sayings below—just to read as you run.

What Red Cross is Doing Now That the War is Over

The question is frequently asked, what is the Red Cross doing, now that the war is ended?

It is engaged in Health Education and in the teaching of Sanitation and Hygiene.

It has furnished over one thousand and Public Health nurses as community leaders.

It has established and trained classes in First Aid in connection with industrial and civic organizations as well as domestic life.

It has bound together in the Junior Red Cross fourteen million school children in an organization whose ideal is Service and whose program is the breeding of sound American citizenship.

It is striving to be the reserve of the Army and Navy, the auxiliary of the American people and the friend of suffering humanity.

For these reasons it is asking the American people to renew their dollar memberships during the Fourth Roll Call, November 11 to 25.

Gave It To His Little Daughter

Five year old girl had had case of catarrh in the head, no appetite, weak and pale. Father got great relief himself from Dreco and that is why he gave it to her.

"I got so much good from taking Dreco that I put my little five year old girl to taking it and there is a big difference in her now," said Mr. Willis Baker, the well known concrete contractor of 1318 East Markin St., Kokomo, Ind.

"I had never been able to get rid of constipation, pains in my back, indigestion, gas in my stomach and heartburn, till I tried this new medicine Dreco and I believe the first dose did me good. Dreco also worked my liver off, thereby relieving those awful dizzy spells and cleared off my tongue."

"I had catarrh which kept me hawking all the time and clearing my throat. Dreco overcame this for me, and I started my little girl taking it, and there is a big improvement in her. The color has returned to her cheeks; she romps and plays has a good appetite and the catarrh is all gone. I am a strong believer in Dreco."

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced by F. B. Johnson & Co.—Adv.

FRANCE ONLY ALLY TO CONQUER WAR

Only Nation of Allied Powers Who
Today is Free From Strikes or
Social Unrest

WORKS MIRACLES IN 2 YEARS

Quick Readjustment to New Standard of Living Leaves Nation
Free of Industrial Strikes

By HENRY WOOD
Paris, Nov. 11—Within two years after the signing of the armistice, France has worked two veritable miracles—one of readjustment and one of reconstruction.

As a result of this miracle of readjustment, although France was the one allied country that suffered most from the war, and the one country in which the increase in the cost of living was the greatest, she is the only one of the big Allied powers, who today is entirely free from any strikes or social unrest of an economic nature.

Furthermore, she is the only one of the big Allied powers who in the same period of time has been able to free herself fully and definitely from the menace of Bolshevism. The death knell of the latter was sounded a month ago when in national convention at Orleans the French Federation of Labor almost unanimously condemned the leaders who up until eight months ago ordered and supported political strikes

amongst the French workingmen.

Instead of waiting, as much of the rest of the world has done, for economic life to re-establish itself on the pre-war basis, France saw at once that this would never happen and immediately readjusted herself to the new economic life imposed by the war.

The official statistics of the Allied countries place the increase in the cost of living in France as a result of the war at 300 per cent.

Yet, despite this astounding handicap, official figures of the French Ministry of Public Instruction, show that salaries generally throughout France have now been increased from 200 to 300 percent.

It is this quick readjustment of the whole economic basis of French life to the new standard of living created by the war that has left France entirely free from industrial strikes for the past nine months and has wiped out completely the menace of Bolshevism.

All France is hard at work today on a fairly contented basis to repair the havoc and damages wrought by the war.

Like all other Allied nations in Europe, one of the greatest damages to France from the war was the increase in her importations and the decrease in her exportations resulting in the frightful decrease in the value of French money in foreign countries.

Yet the most astounding progress is being made to remedy this by increase in French production and consequently increased exportation and decreased importation.

During the first seven months of 1919 France exported only 4,776,-

402,000 francs worth of merchandise and produce. For the first seven months of 1920, these exportations were increased to 12,006,630,- 000 francs, a gain of over 7,000,- 000,000 francs; France's total importations for 1919 were 29,778,- 000,000 francs against only 8,713,-
000,000 francs of exportations.

For all of 1920 it is estimated that her importations will only be 37,304,000,000 francs and her exportations 20,582,000,000, showing a steady progress towards the reestablishment of equal importations necessary to overcome the present ruinous rate of French exchange.

As regards commercial relations with the United States, France's importations for July from America which totaled $58,961,554 were reduced for the month of August to $38,321,950, showing how fast
French industries are getting back on a basis where they can supply the needs of France without recourse to foreign countries.

France has kept equal pace in the reconstruction of her devastated regions.

Of the 2,712,000 French citizens who were driven from their homes
by the German invasion, 1,533,000
are now back on the job.

Of the 5,570 kilometers of railway destroyed during the war 4,070 kilometers are back in operation.

Of the 5,760,000 acres of land rendered uncultivable because of the presence of unexploded shells and missiles, 5,220,000 acres have been cleaned and put back into cultivation.

Of the 3,060,000 acres of ground that were pounded into nothing by shell fire and other war activities, 2,870,000 have been restored to productivity.

Of the 11,500 factories that were destroyed by the war 3,540 are already back in operation and another 3,842 are under reconstruction.

Of the 379,000 people who were employed in these factories before the war, 257,831 are back at work in them.

RAILROADS PROTEST AGAINST NEW RATES

Twenty Five Lines Go Before Public Service Commission Wanting
Milk Rate Changed

WERE GRANTED 20 PERCENT

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—
Twenty-five steam carriers appeared before Examiner Disque of the Interstate Commerce Commission here today in protest to the recent order of the Indiana Public Service Commission granting the railroads a 20 percent increase in milk and cream and baggage rates.

The Public service commission denied the petition of the railroads for a 57 percent increase in these commodities.

The Indiana commission refused to grant the road a 40 percent increase in freight rates and gave them an increase of 30 percent. It also refused to grant the roads the increase in passenger fares from 3 cents per mile to 3.6 cents believing that the railroads were not entitled to the increase at this time.
However the commission did allow the railroads to make a surcharge of 50 percent on Pullman rates.

The hearing was to be held in the Federal building.

The Rebekah Lodge will hold their regular stated meeting Friday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. The presence of all the team is desired as the degree will be conferred on two candidates. Other matters of importance will also be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Haydon, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Young, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. George Griesser and Dr. and Mrs. Carl Behr, will form a theatre party tonight, and will see David Warfield in "The Return of Peter Grimm", at the English theatre in Indianapolis.

The Marian Social Circle of the St. Mary's Catholic church was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Harry Euler in North Harrison street this afternoon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Philip Heeb in the serving of refreshments at the close of the social afternoon.

Mrs. Ollie Haywood delightfully entertained last evening with a family dinner at her home in West Third street. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a large bouquet of fall flowers and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. James Draper of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonzo Draper and family of Greenfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Osro Draper and family of Charlottesville. A delicious two course oyster upper was served.

Mrs. Phil Wilk, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. George F. Griesser and Mrs. Harry G. Francis have issued invitations for a formal party to be given next Wednesday afternoon, November 17, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of the latter 820 North Harrison street. A program has been arranged for the entertainment of the ladies. In the evening at 6:30 o'clock the same ladies, including their husbands, will entertain with a dinner party, at the home of Mrs. Francis.

Large French baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and potted ferns formed the artistic decorations for the home of Mrs. Loren Meek this afternoon, when about fifty ladies were delightfully entertained with a prettily appointed bridge party. The hostesses were Mrs. Meek, Mrs. Paul Boehm and Mrs. Glen Foster. Mrs. J. W. Giltner of Akron, Ohio, the house guest of Mrs. Lowell Green, was the only out-of-town guest present. At the close of the bridge party the hostesses served a two course luncheon.

Yesterday being the annual inspection of the Woman's Relief Corps, about twenty-two members of the organization gathered at the home of their president, Mrs. Sarah Giffin in North Morgan street for a delicious pitch-in dinner. The honored guests' table and the small tables were decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Eliza J. Crisler, the inspector, arrived on the 11:30 train yesterday morning and was met at the station by Mrs. Giffin and was immediately taken to her home where the pitch-in dinner was served. The inspector was presented during the dinner hour with a beautiful corsage bouquet of chrysanthemums by Mrs. Turner.

After the repast the ladies went to the Red Men's hall where the inspection was held. Everything was done according to the ritual of the order and very little correction was made. Mrs. Crisler was entertained by Mrs. Giffin and returned to her home in Greensburg this morning. Thirty-eight members were present for the inspection.

Members of the third division of the Social Club entertained the members of the club with a dinner dance last evening in the clubrooms in North Morgan street. Covers were laid for ninety-five guests for the dinner and a large crowd remained for the dance which followed the dinner. The Greensburg jazz orchestra provided splendid music for the dancers throughout the evening.

Following is the year's program of social events to be given by the club: Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday

Nov. 24, men's dinner dance; Wednesday evening, Dec. 8, dinner-dance, in charge of the first division; holiday dance, Wednesday evening, Dec. 29, reception and dance; Wednesday evening Jan. 12, dinner-dance in charge of the second division; Wednesday evening, January 26, dinner-dance, in charge of the third division; Wednesday evening, February 9, dinner-dance, in charge of the first division; Wednesday evening, February 23, dinner-dance, in charge of the second division; St. Patrick's Day, Wednesday, March 16, men's dinner dance.

SLENDER LINES

A WOMAN who lived on a farm, who claims that her diet is necessarily limited to farm products, wrote me recently, asking how she might reduce. The things which I particularly stated were to be avoided, were things she said formed the chief dishes on the table. Pork, potatoes, wheat bread, butter, milk, eggs—all fattening, but all raised on the farm.

Now, of course, the woman who lives near some large market can pick and choose from a great variety for her table. But the farm woman can follow the reduction diet more easily than she thinks. She can cut out the milk and cream and butter from her diet, she need not eat pork products, and she can stop eating the rich home-baked cakes and pastries. This means a certain self-sacrifice on her part, for the fatter the body the greater the appetite. But no fat woman will starve, no matter how little she eats, for the body immediately starts feeding itself from its own accumulated flesh, and reduces itself while keeping up the proper supply of nourishment.

The farm woman really has many advantages over the city woman in planning a reduction diet. She can raise her own green vegetables, and put up many of them to last out the winter. She can eat fowl as much as she wants, without adding flesh, and incurring expense. She can do without water at meals, since this adds flesh, she can get about in the air, and have the real benefits of work and exercise.

NO REPLY MADE TO M'CRAY

Goodrich Silent on His Complaint Regarding Appointment

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Gov. James P. Goodrich was silent today on the demand of Governor-elect McCray, who lives at Kentland.

McCray, who demanded a change in the tax-board personnel was opposed to Governor Goodrich in re-appointing Philip Zoercher to the tax board. He said he had been told that his term of office would continue for several months and that the governor was informed that he did not favor his reappointment to the four year term.

Goodrich was at the bedside of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frist, of Lynn, Ind., who is lying at the point of death in the St. Vincent hospital here.

Federation of Labor Will Not Permit Reduction on Union Jobs.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Organized labor will strike instantly in the face of an attempt to cut wages on union jobs in violation of contracts, Vice-president James Duncanson of the American Federation of Labor warned here today at the Federation's executive council meeting.

The American Federation of Labor will back this statement up, said Maoth, a member of the federation.

any game that may be hunted in Indiana. Not more than 15 may be shot in one day, nor more than 45 can be held in one person's possession at one time. Under no circumstance may quail be sold or caught in a trap.

Squirrels may be hunted up until December 20. It is unlawful to hunt rabbits with a ferret, or to hunt in any manner on Sunday. Hunters should also remember that it is against the law to shoot along a public highway in an automobile, or to shoot across a road from one field into another.

Using a spot light on an automobile at night is contrary to the state law, and the person is subject to a heavy fine.

Former soldiers may hunt without a license, provided that they first secure the permission of the land owner. No one else may hunt without a license except on his own land.

active part in the war were represented by delegations. Scores of bells temporarily installed on the hoods of automobiles added to the din. Many townships had large delegations riding in "decorated" farm wagons. A dilapidated hearse was drawn in the parade as the funeral car of the kaiser and a placard on it intimated that he was some place besides heaven.

The first anniversary of the ending of the war was very fittingly celebrated here last year. The observance began at the mystic hour of eleven which figured so prominently in the cessation of hostilities. The feature of the day was the sealing of the court house walls by "The Human Fly." An immense crowd of people was here to witness the performance both in the afternoon and at night when he climbed the walls of the building again under the glare of a spotlight.

At two o'clock in the afternoon a service flag parade was held and at three o'clock Col. Robert A. Tyn-dall, former commander of the 150th Field Artillery, spoke. A sparkler parade preceded the exhibition by "The Human Fly" at night.

The fact that the people have just emerged from an intense political campaign is believed the reason for there not being a demand for a celebration this year. A number of cities observed the occasion, but the day was not formally recognized here with the exception that a few people displayed the Stars and Stripes.

The cause of the independent members of the local union 95 in seeking to blow up the house wrecking job, was for revenge on Robert Brindell and his allies, the newspaper said.

Brindell is head of a building trade council now under investigation by the Lockwood legislative committee. Brindell has been organizing new unions, forcing the old ones out of business and making the workers pay tribute.

Throughout the country on next Sunday memorial services will be held for more than 100,000 American soldiers who were killed or died of disease—114,465 is the exact number, according to government statistics. President Wilson has officially proclaimed next Sunday as the day for memorial services.

Nineteen thousand five hundred men wounded and disabled, many of them crippled for life, are still in government hospitals undergoing treatment, according to figures of the War Risk insurance bureau.

Some American troops are still in Europe. They constitute the army occupation, 15,000 strong at Cologne, Germany, where the American forces were assigned under terms of the armistice.

And according to all reports these soldiers are living a vastly different life from those who tramped through the mud and live in dugouts. Because of the decline of German money, the American soldiers with their $30 a month are in the millionaire class. German not being dry, a large glass of beer can be obtained there for one cent in American money. Other prices are in proportion.

Nearly half of the cost of the war to America in actual dollars has been paid, according to Treasury Department figures. This, however, is exclusive of the $10,000,000,000 loaned the allies.

Exclusive of that $10,000,000,000 former Secretary of the Treasury Glass estimated the war cost the country $26,007,000,000. Of this $11,180,000,000 was paid in taxes during the course of the war and afterward. Two and a half billion more has been paid since the armistice—a total of $13,680,000,000 paid.

Under present plans of retiring the debt it will take about twenty five years to retire the remainder.

LASKER PLAN LOOKS MOST FAVORABLE NOW

Five American League Teams Will Enter The New National Baseball League

FINAL DECISION FRIDAY

Kansas, City, Mo., Nov. 11—The five loyal American League club owners will join the new National League club owners in a peace conference at Chicago Friday, it was announced here by Garry Hermann.

Plans for reorganization of baseball will be drawn up at the Chicago meeting and the threatened war probably will be averted, all baseball leaders stated today.

Hermann made the announcement about the probability of a national association of professional baseball league here Friday. During his speech he was interrupted by a message brought in, which was a communication from five club owners who stood with Ban Johnson.

Aside from the announcement that the meeting would be held Friday, Hermann, on continuance of his speech, presented arguments for the Lasker plan of reorganization of baseball. The Lasker plan will be drawn up and indications were that it would be adopted, Hermann stated.

If an agreement of the major league is in sight for reorganization plans, the minor leagues are expected to swing into line and endorse any action the major leagues may take.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO BRITISH DEAD

England Celebrated 2nd Anniversary of Armistice Day by Impressive Demonstration

KING GEORGE PARTICIPATES

When "Maroons" Boomed Forth Hour Hostilities Ceased King Unveiled the Cenotaph

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, Nov. 11—England celebrated the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice by an impressive demonstration. In London and most big cities the old air-raid "maroon" warnings were fired as the clocks struck the hour, at which hostilities ceased on the Western front, and foot-passengers came to a halt in the streets, standing with bowed heads.

Londoners had a special and most impressive ceremony, when as the "maroons" boomed forth the hour King George unveiled the permanent memorial to "The Glorious Dead", known as the Cenotaph, on Whitehall. The monument is the marble replica of the temporary Cenotaph erected for the great Victory parade last year, and which was saluted by the troops of the Allied nations. Originally it was intended to erect a much larger memorial in one of the parks or big open spaces, but the plaster cast of Sir Edwin Lutyens' severely plain yet weirdly and solemnly beautiful design caught the public imagination and the spot where it was originally erected, almost opposite the Whitehall end of Downing street, became a national shrine hallowed by the tears of countless pilgrims.

Unimaginative officials wished to remove the structure immediately after the Victory parade but there was such a public outcry that it was allowed to remain until the plaster began to crumble, and the erection of a more substantial memorial became imperative. Again officials wished to erect the marble replica elsewhere, but the British nation expressed its wishes so definitely that the officials gave way and the permanent Cenotaph today rests on the original spot in Whitehall.

King George with Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, Duke of York, and Princess Mary drove from Buckingham Palace attended by a brilliant staff and a sovereign's escort of Life Guards resplendent in pre-war carlet; gold and steel. Drawn up around the veiled Cenotaph were detachments representing every branch of the army, navy, air force and services. Allied diplomats and foreign naval and military attaches were also present, as were Premier Lloyd George and the cabinet. A funeral party of the Guards in pre-war crimson and gold stood at each corner of the memorial with heads bowed over their reversed rifles and guards of honor of the King's Company, Grenadier Guards and the Royal Navy with standards and bands, stood ready to render honors.

The formerly dreaded air-raid warnings boomed out the hour. King George, standing a little in front of the royal group immediately pulled the silken cord releasing the drape, and stood at the salute. The guards of honor presented arms and the huge concourse remained absolutely stationary for the prescribed two minutes.

The silence was only broken when the trumpets of the Guards sounded the "Last Post" and "All Clear". Before leaving the Cenotaph King George placed a large wreath at the foot of the plinth, an example which was imitated by Lloyd George, and other prominent British and Allied representatives. The inscription, "The Glorious Dead", caught the popular imagination more than anything else. During the afternoon floral tributes of every description, from expensive hot-house products to humble bunches of wild flowers, were piled round the plinth.

FRANCE HONORS 2 IMPORTANT DATES

Nation Celebrates Jointly 50th Anniversary of Republic and Signing of Armistice

UNITE TWO IMPORTANT DATES

Most Striking Feature is Removal to and Final Interment of Founder of Third Republic

By HENRY WOOD

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Nov. 11—All France is today celebrating jointly the fiftieth anniversary of the republic and the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the late war.

In commemoration of the joint celebration, the above inscription uniting the two dates has just been permanently inscribed on the Arch of Triumph at the Etoile.

In order to give special significance however, it was decided not to chisel the dates on the monument itself along with the hundreds of thousands of others, but to engrave it in the flagstones directly underneath the center of the great arch.

While the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the French republic occurred on September 4, the celebration of it was postponed until today. The one celebration marks the birth of the republic; the other its salvation.

By far the most striking feature of today's celebration is the removal to and final interment at the Pantheon of the heart of Gambetta, the founder of the third republic.

The heart of Gambetta was taken from his tomb this week at the Villa of Less Jardis at Ville d'Avray and placed in a box of wood, made from the pine of the Vosges, which Gambetta loved so well. Last night the sacred relic placed on an artillery carriage and escorted by military contingents was brought to Paris and rested for the night, surrounded by troops and guards under the center of the Arch of Triumph and just over the inscription given above, engraved in the flagstones.

Then, today, for the final escorting of this relic to the Pantheon, Paris witnessed one of the most remarkable processions under the Arch of Triumph that it has ever seen.

First of all there passed under the Arch the battle flags of the entire French army as it exists today—active, reserve, colonial, as well as all battleflags taken from the French in past wars but later returned by their former victors.

Scores of the flags that passed under the Arch of Triumph today were brought especially for the occasion from thousands and thousands of miles distance.

Each flag-bearer was escorted by two soldiers from the regiment to which the flag belonged.

In addition, there also participated in the procession the survivors of the war of 1870 and the mutilated of the present war.

This procession after passing under the Arch of Triumph continued its way along streets lined on both sides with troops holding their bayoneted rifles at attention, until the square in front of the Pantheon was reached.

At the Pantheon both a musical and literary ceremony marked the final interment of Gambetta's heart in the great monument where lie the remains of the greatest men of France.

During the afternoon still another ceremony was held at the Hotel de Ville for the reception of the delegations from Alsace-Lorraine, as well as the mayors of all the French cities and villages.

This evening four great military processions will leave the Hotel de Ville marching out in four different directions, one to Place de la Concorde, one to Place de la Republique, one to the Lion de Belfort and one to Place de la Nation.

Easy Way To Ward Off Cold

It's better to take a few pleasant little tablets and ward off a cold than to pay big doctor bills and lie in bed for days or weeks with pneumonia.

During the fall and winter months when grippe and pneumonia keep the doctors busy, health authorities urge everyone to "Watch out for symptoms of colds and get after them right off."

Take no chances. At the first sign of sniffling and sneezing get a box of Lightning Laxative Quinine Tablets and stop the cold within 24 hours. Lightning Laxative Quinine Tablets are safe, pleasant, never grip or sicken. Druggists guarantee them. Only 25c per box.

NOT WORKING BUT TIRED OUT

When one feels always tired without working, or suffers from backache, lumbago, rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff joints it is not always easy to locate the source of trouble, but very frequently it can be traced to overworked, weakened or diseased kidneys. Mrs. L. Gibson, 12th & Edison St., La Junta, Colo., writes: "My kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away." E. B. When the rapidity and accuracy of your work depends upon the condition of your eyes, you should not let a foolish prejudice against wearing glasses stand in the way of a successful career.

From its very nature, your work taxes the eyes severely, unless they are in the best possible condition.

If your eyes are not defective they can do an enormous amount of work without injury, but a slight eye strain may injure your eyes permanently.

If you have symptoms of eyestrain call and let us examine your eyes at once. Delay only makes bad matters worse.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BONUS OFFERED

Rep Wason of New Hampshire
Proposes to Refund Money Paid
for Dependents Support

$300,000,000 APPROPRIATION

His Measure Would Affect 2,000,000
Former Service Men Who Allowed
Dependent's Share

Washington, Nov. 11—Representative Wason, of New Hampshire, proposes a substitute for the bonus bill, which will be debated in the Senate next month, which would confine soldier benefits to the return on money sent home to relatives by enlisted men during the conflict. He says:

"How much more useful it would be for the Government to consider returning to each soldier, sailor, and marine the amount of money that he allotted during his service for the support of his dependent relatives? By such a program approximately 2,000,000 ex-service men and women would be affected, and there would be distributed throughout the United States the sum of $300,000,000, which would be apportioned to each State according to the number of men in each state who during their service made allotments to their dependent relatives, and which allotments were supported by Government family allowance, giving evidence of the dependency of these relatives. I have given much thought and study to this problem and have compiled certain reliable statistics, which I will make a part of this record.

"The men and women who have been disabled by reason of their active service would, I feel, confident, be entirely in sympathy and accord with such a program, even though many of them have already expressed themselves in favor of those sections of the bill coming under Title II to which I have referred in the earlier part of my remarks. Gentlemen these matters are of such grave importance that they should be given consideration without any influence of party lines. At least, I insist that there cannot be, and should not be any objection to a thorough discussion of this bill on the floor of this House, with the usual privilege of amendment, and therefore I opposed the adoption of this rule and the jamming through of the bill without amendment after a debate of forty minutes.

"The following important provisions are included in the bill which I introduced and has passed the House and is pending in the Senate and should be enacted into law immediately. It will materially extend the Government service to the disabled soldiers and to all exservice men and women as well as to their dependent relatives. Certain other provisions of the bill will improve materially the Bureau of War Risk Insurance equipment in the administering of all the features under the original war-risk insurance act and its subsequent amendments.

This bill affects both the administration of the original war-risk insurance act and its subsequent amendments liberalizes existing provisions and adds such provisions as are believed to be in the vital interest of former service men and women, as well as their dependent relatives.

As affecting the administration the provisions included are:

"First: To authorize the establishment of a reasonable number of regional and suboffices for the purpose of expediting the handling of adjustments of allotment and allowance cases, compensation claims, physical examinations, medical treatment and hospital care, as well as insurance claims, in the various States where the ex-service men and women and their dependent relatives are now located.

"The present method, compelling all cases to be handled by correspondence with Washington, is entirely unsatisfactory, and has caused the ex-service men and women, as well as their dependent relatives, to suffer much hardship, and they have registered bitter complaint against what they regard as the Government's neglect in giving proper consideration to their needs.
